ABOUT US

Salt & Pepper is a company with five years of experience in developing web projects - from promo sites up to high-load startups and services. The company has a staff of 30 employees.

As the majority of young people working in IT, we are passionate about games. That's why we started our own inner project called WOOMP.

The project is being developed by 3 of our team members.

At the moment, we are ready to show you the prototype of the game and to collect some feedback and advice on how to make it better.

We are also in search of a game publisher who would be interested in this game as much as we are.

To get an access to the game send your Apple ID to ak@snp.agency
